
top 5 greatest movies Top 5 uses of a Dylan track in movies

Posted by Derek Keogh - 2009/12/10 04:31

Hi, With the upcoming Wonderboys release boasting a plethora of Dylan performances, heres my top 5 best uses of a Dylan track in a movie. 5. Flashback - People Get ready. A great scene with the train pulling away and Bob in great voice singing a great track 4. Jerry Maguire - Shelter from the Storm A real upbeat feelgood ending to a nice Cameron crowe flick. A couple and their lil youngfella in the park..nicely done. 3. American beauty - AATW Kevin Spaced-Out lifting weights and smoking joints to the original version..very very Good. 2. Dogfight - Don't think twice You actually see the post coital vinyl dropping onto the turntable to deliver a haunting rendition from Freewheelingg. Sooooo tasteful. 2. In the Name of The Father - Like A Rolling Stone The intro roars on the Sealink jukebox as the lads clink glasses and singalongabob in this movies most upbeat scene. Honorable mentions go to Nick Noltes paint flinging scene and non Dylan renditions of AATW by Jimi in Withnail and I My 2p Derek Keogh Dublin

=====