

I Love You, Beth Cooper

I realize that the profession of the reviewer is not the worst in the world. On the contrary, it is mostly very pleasant occupation. There are however days when - believe me - a very, very tiring job. One of these days he was the one where I had to watch the movie "I Love You, Beth Cooper."

During the speech at the end of the school, with disarming frankness confesses love of one of the prettiest girls in school, Beth Cooper. A brave gesture impresses teenager who agrees to come to the party boy. But is neither as it expects, or it. Next we have a full set of high school patents. Illegal to buy alcohol, Neanderthal sexual initiations, compromising school, big cars, tampons in the nose. Modern cinema also requires address sexual orientation issues, so we have - if they put the boys of "South Park" - an interesting bi-guy. The only interesting scene is a fight using the sword of light and arms . And angry rodent. I really do not demand that the teen comedies my intellect, my heart was moving on a permanent imprint on my soul. I know it has to be sometimes must be blonde and vulnerable "loser" and that while it appears that the girl has a rich interior, and the sap is pretty cool. I do not expect these films to ... basically anything. Besides, that was fun. Meanwhile, during the seance I Love You, Beth Cooper, "unfortunately, is very, very boring.
